

MALT FIELDS OF FOG

From ancient times, Scotland has been famed for its beer-brewing skills. As early as the times of the Celts and the Picts, they were brewing exceptionally delicious ales. Yet it remains a little-known fact that Scotland's climate doesn't grow hops — unlike malt which grows in abundance.

By tracing the artistic principles of the Art Deco era we've created a remarkable ornament, with a motif drawn from the fields of malt. It's a bold, geometric pattern.

COMPOSITION:

Wool Silk Double Cloth Jacquard,
51% wool, 49% silk

SIZES

Width: 59" / 150 cm
Repeat: 6x21.5" / 15.4x54.5 cm

